armistice which led to unconditional surrender barely four weeks ago.

For several weeks after the United States declared war Turkey took no action but on April 21, 1917 she severed diplomatic relations. However there has never been a declaration of war by either nation.

THE ANSWER NOW READY

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, October 31.—The announcement of the decision of President Wilson on the renewed plea of Austria-Hungary for an immediate armistice and peace negotiations was expected today to be made soon. In the opinion of many the answer of the President will be a notification of the Governments of the Dual Monarchy that he has forwarded to the allied governments its plea, and that like Germany it must look to the Supreme War Council for the terms upon which an armistice can be arranged and the war brought to an end.

The President spent most of yesterday at work on the Austrian reply and last night it was believed he had practically completed the task. It was generally thought the President would take up the steps that Austria and Hungary had taken in the liberation of subject people.

The latest German note delivered yesterday to the state department through the Swiss legation also will probably be transmitted to the supreme war council for its consideration along with the other correspondence of the Austrian government.

The text of the German communication has not been made public but is understood to be an addition to the preceding German note giving details toward the democratization of Germany.

AUSTRIANS NEAR DISASTER

(By The War Editor of The Associated Press)

Disaster threatens the Austro-Hungarian armies from the Stelvio to the Adriatic as they retreat from Italian territory. All the Italian armies now have entered the great offensive against the Austrians and the allied troops are advancing rapidly along the entire front from Lake Garda to the Adriatic.

Fighting activity on the western front remains at a virtual standstill. There have been only isolated actions at several points.

ITALIANS IRRESISTIBLE

Shattered by the irresistible advance of the Italians, British and French across the Piave the Austrians are fleeing rapidly across the plains of eastern Venetia toward the line of the Isonzo from which they advanced one year ago.

American troops are participating in the advance of the Italian tent army which already has reached the outskirts of Sacile, 17 miles east of the Piave. The total of Austrian prisoners is approaching 40,000.

Apparently the Austrian forces which were along the Piave will have great difficulty in reaching the hills east of the Isonzo. They have been separated from the army in the mountains west of the Piave and the allies already threaten their rear. Along the lower Piave the Italian third army has crossed the river and taken up the pursuit. In the center the Italians have taken Oderzo while further north they have advanced beyond Vittorio.

In retreating across the plains over the 55 miles between the Piave and Isonzo the Austrians rushed backward as through a narrow hallway, walled in on the north by the Carnic Alps and on the south by the Adriatic.

The situation of the Austrians guarding the Trentino along the front from the west of Lake Garda to the Piave also is becoming serious. Between the Brenta and Piave the fifteen Austrian divisions there have been cut off by the capture of Vadal Pass.

Austrian troops also are retiring from Serbia and the left wing already has crossed the Danube, Vienna announces. The Serbs have reached the Danube near Semendria, and the fall of Belgrade and the complete liberation would seem but a matter of a few days if not hours. In western Serbia the Austrians also are marching north of the Danube.

There has been little change in the situation on the western front. British patrols have been active between Valenciennes and LeQuesnoy. In the Champagne the French have repulsed a German counter attack northwest of Chateau Portien.

FINAL APPEAL FOR SLACKER RECORDS

During the week of October 26 to November 2 the attention of the American people is being called as never before to the great need of music as a means of inspiration to the men who are fighting for our homes.

In 100 towns in the United States the time and energy of patriotic musicians are centered on the task of collecting phonographs and records for our soldier and sailors.

Every person who owns a phonograph has records that have served their time in that household. These lie idle now and can be spared to send to our boys. These records have been named "slacker records."

LIE IS NAILED BY UNCLE SAMUEL

The most popular German lie of the season is the story that army doctors and Red Cross nurses have been shot at sunrise for injecting disease germs into soldiers. Every army camp in the United States has been named as the scene of the tragedy. No incident of the sort has occurred at any camp or hospital either here or abroad. "The reports are ridiculous," says the War Department, "and without the slightest foundation in fact. There have been no medical officers, nurses, or anyone else executed at any camp in the United States or abroad for any such cause."

The purpose of these stories is evident. They are designed to depress civilian morale by worrying the relatives and friends of the men in the service and to weaken the faith of the American people in the efficiency of their War Department.

A similar story alleges that influenza has been spread by means of germs in aspirin tablets. That story is equally ridiculous and untrue. Germs would not live in such a medium even if the Germans wished them to.

MEMOIR.

Walter Seldon Lucas, son of Alcester and Leota Lucas, was born November 15th, 1887, on one of the home farms on Bogus road, where he spent all his boyhood days and grew up into sterling young manhood. He died in Detroit, Michigan, from pneumonia, brought on by Spanish influenza, on Saturday, October 26th, 1918, aged 30 years, 9 months and eleven days. He leaves besides his parents and one brother, William, a wife and two little girls.

Once more the dread epidemic has smitten and left heartbreaking grief in its wake. But there is much to comfort the bereaved home in the memories of the bright young lad, of the mature youth, and, later, the rounded out man, who for three decades had added so greatly to the interest and happiness of the home circle.

Walter was a model son, having none of the bad habits which so often cause parents wakeful nights and sad hours, and these habits formed early clung to the man. He was always a hustler, charged with an energy which spent itself freely and never flagged. He was a natural born mechanic and at the time of his death was engaged in the making of automobile trucks for the government, having been turned down for military service on account of a bad throat and gladly entering upon government work.

His only lodge affiliation was the order of the Moose.

Possessing a friendly and responsive disposition, always ready to lend a helping hand and to do a favor, and having many likable traits, Walter's friends were legion, and there are many who share in the grief and loss which has smitten the home.

The brief span of his life is over, but his memory will live and be cherished in the home and in the community.

WIDE INFORMATION OF COLONEL HOUSE AMAZES STATESMEN

Paris, October 30.—Colonel E. M. House, special representative of the United States to the European governments, has taken a house in a quiet quarter of Paris on the left bank of the Seine, not far from the French Ministry of War. He has already had conversations of considerable length with Premier Clemenceau, Field Marshal Haig, Viscount Milner, British secretary of state for war; William Graves Sharp, American ambassador to France; Premier Venizelos of Greece and General Tasker H. Bliss, American representative to the Supreme War Council. The precise information in possession of Colonel House, relative to the situation, rather amazes statesmen on this side of the Atlantic. They have not been aware that Colonel House, as head of a bureau at Washington, has been receiving for eight months the results of original study from many sources in every belligerent country.

PROGNOSTICATORS SEE MILD WINTER

Here comes one of the earliest predictions concerning winter. It is to the effect that we are to have a mild, open season. The corn husk prophets, and the prophets who inspect goose bones, have not reported; neither have the fellows who can tell what kind of a winter we are going to have by the fur on rabbits, or by the thickness of the hickory nut hulls. They will come along later; the first prediction pertains to locust blooms.

A gentleman residing in the southern part of the state says that he has a locust tree in his yard in full bloom, the second crop of blossoms it has borne this year. He alleges that always, heretofore, when the tree has blossomed in the fall, the following winter has been mild.—Exchange.

CANDIDATES FOR PROBATE JUDGE

The names of the two candidates for Probate Judge—Frank M. Allen and Edwin Weaver—were inadvertently omitted from the last of candidates recently published, due to the fact that the copy of the ballot used was the first judicial ballot printed, and the names had been omitted from the ballot; later necessitating a re-printing of the ballot.

The judicial ticket contains four candidates for Supreme Court Judges, (two to elect) two for Judge of the Probate court (one to elect) and one for the Court of Appeals (one to elect).

PLAINTIFF WINS IN TITLE ACTION

Judge Cleveland, in the case of Mary Jane Schwartz, et al. against Francis A. Schlessenger, et al., has rendered a decision in favor of the plaintiff, the action being to register title to 300 acres of land in Fayette county.

Judge Cleveland in his findings declared that the records show judicial construction of the will in which title was given plaintiffs, and that therefore title would be upheld.

Hidy & Sanderson represented the plaintiffs and Logan the defendants.

SECOND HUNDRED MEN EXAMINED

The second hundred men called for physical examination assembled at Memorial Hall, Thursday morning, and were speedily examined by the corps of physicians and helpers.

The results of Wednesday's examinations were not available up to Thursday afternoon, and when finally completed will be published.

Results of the Thursday and Friday examinations will be announced as soon as possible.

The examiners again found many of the men still weakened as result of influenza attacks.

BOLD INTRUDER STILL AT LARGE

So far the police have not apprehended the negro who was found in the home of Mrs. Sarah Larrimer on Washington Avenue, a few nights ago, and who was so severely beaten that his condition, coupled with the excellent description furnished by the four women who put him to flight, should make identification a very easy matter.

One suspect was rounded up but was dismissed because of immediate announcement that he was not the man wanted.

There has been a general hope and demand that the man be arrested and punished in an effort to break up some of the annoyance in the city.

U BOAT VICTIMS REACH PORT SAFE

(American Press)

New York, Oct. 31.—Set adrift in a small boat in mid-Atlantic by the commander of a German submarine, 16 men of the Norwegian bark Stifinder arrived here after 15 days of struggling toward land. Captain Berklund and seven other members of the crew are missing and are believed to have died of thirst and starvation. They were in another boat. The survivors declared the submarine held them up Oct. 13 at a point about 1,500 miles off the American coast. They were ordered into the lifeboats and the Germans blew up their ship with bombs. Afterward the U-boat submerged and left the men to their fate. The survivors rowed for 15 days in shifts until they were picked up by an American patrol vessel and brought into port. Their food was crackers and their drinking water was rain caught in small buckets.

LOWER MADISON VERY HARD HIT

Reports from the Danville and Sedalia neighborhoods, in lower Madison county, indicate that the influenza epidemic in the communities has been unusually severe, and that more than half of the citizens have been suffering with the malady, and a large number of them are still ill.

Several deaths have occurred in lower Madison county recently, according to the reports.

The disease has resulted in many precautions being taken throughout Madison county.

He is survived by a wife and one son.

TO THE VOTERS OF FAYETTE COUNTY.

On account of health regulations to prevent the spread of Spanish influenza no public political meetings will be held this fall. I had hoped to meet many of the voters of both political parties, but in consequence can only speak to them through the press.

I am a candidate for County Recorder and I hope the voters will consider the merits and claim of both myself and opponent the present incumbent, who has had two terms in this office and is now seeking a third term.

It has been a well established custom that two terms in a county office is all that one man should ask, if this custom is to prevail the voters must determine at the ensuing election. I have never held a public office and did not seek this nomination and if elected will consider it an honor and will endeavor to merit the confidence of the voters personally and present my claim but the unfortunate condition of the public health forbids and the press is the only medium I can employ.

Respectfully submitted to the voters of Fayette County.

The government is establishing Federal Community Labor Boards throughout Ohio as rapidly as possible.

Their function is to recruit labor from non-war and less essential lines for war work that is suffering from lack of men.

The success of their efforts depends entirely upon the patriotic cooperation of employers and employees.

To the workers they say: Are you doing work that is helping Uncle Sam win the war?

To the employers they say: Are you using all of your employees on work that is helping Uncle Sam win the war?

Both men and employers are asked to be patriotic in this supreme crisis and get behind Uncle Sam.

The nation's stay-at-home army must not be less responsive to the call to duty than its overseas army.

A WASHINGTON C. H. INTERVIEW

Mrs. Cramblett Tell Her Experience

The following brief account of an interview with a Washington C. H. woman four years ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen.

Mrs. J. J. Cramblett, 474 S. Fayette St., Washington C. H., says: "I was all run down and I had to give up my work. An attack of lumbago left me helpless. My back ached so much I could hardly bend over and my kidneys showed many signs of weakness. I couldn't sleep well and mornings I could hardly get out of bed. My head ached and I had such dizzy spells. I could scarcely walk. I was nearly a physical wreck. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they put me in good health." (Statement given July 31, 1913).

On August 7, 1917 Mrs. Cramblett said: "I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills again. Whenever I notice any symptoms of kidney trouble coming on, I use Doan's, and in twenty-four hours or less, I get fine relief."

Big and Little Things

America has taught the allied nations how to do things on a big scale. It was America's capacity to grasp the tremendous problems concerning large bodies of men, great quantities of ammunition, food and clothing and the transportation and master them that has transformed the allied armies from a defensive force to a conquering aggressive army.

The application of that peculiar ability of the Americans enabled the allies to do big things in a big way and wrested from the Huns the only superiority they possessed.

Strange as it may seem, while America has taught the allies how to do big things, Americans at home have been learning how to do the little things and paying more heed to the little things. While teaching our allies the big things we have learned economy and thrift ourselves.

End of Prussian Domination

Unless all signs fail, unless all indications are upset, the world war is approaching the end and with the coming of that end the great military power of Prussia, triumphant first on the field of Waterloo, under Blucher as an aid to Wellington, falls in utter and final ruin.

The war-like Prussians, following the defeat of Napoleon, surrendered themselves to the dream of ultimate world conquest and took up, as a nation, the development of the military power, making all other human activities dependent upon and secondary to that work.

In league with other German states, Prussia overran Austria in a war which culminated in the final victory at Sadowa.

Since then Austria, like the states of the German empire, has been but a vassal of Prussia, the barbarians of the north, a military people whose aim is to live by conquest.

After the crushing of Austria the war with France—the war of '70—culminating in the great victories at Sedan and Metz and the complete triumph of Prussian arms, the forty years of preparation, following Sedan, for the world war and the deliberate launching of the present titanic struggle which was to make Prussia and Prussian ideals supreme in all the world came along with orderly Teutonic system.

Thus, in but little more than a century, the Prussian military power, born at Waterloo and supreme at the Marne, has run its awful course and passes now back with the other horrors which never should have been in the retirement of Ludendorff and the certain acceptance of the armistice terms to be laid down by the allied war council at Versailles.

Militarism is rapidly becoming a horror of the past. Civilization and the rights of men, humanity and justice, freedom and brotherly love and unselfishness are arising from the ruins of the battlefields of Europe. Order and sanity, equal rights to all are returning once more to a tortured world and the spirits of the hundreds of thousands of those brave soldiers from every land and every clime who answered freedom's call hovering over the battlefield are assured that those lives have not been given in vain.

Ludendorff and Emperor William, because they represented, when in power, the mistaken ideas of the highway robber and the murderer, must accept their doom.

France is avenged for the wrongs inflicted on her and the world is better. Right has triumphed ultimately.

There Is a Reason

To many the rapidity with which the disintegration of the alliance between Germany, Austria-Hungary and Turkey has occurred is amazing.

To close observers, however, and students of history, the breaking up process, once it began, has been no more rapid nor complete than might have been expected.

The bond between all three, the link which held the alliance together was loot and robbery and once it became apparent that their projects must fail, the whole structure crumbled to pieces.

It has always been true in business, in politics and war that corrupt, selfish ambitions and dishonest, dishonorable and brutal methods may succeed for a time but, in no instance is it recorded that an alliance founded on such aims and conducted by such methods can endure adversity.

So long as Germany was in a position to deceive, to bribe, to promise gain, or to threaten her partners in crime, she was able to hold the so-called Central Powers alliance together.

So long as the war lords, so imposing in victory, were able to promise a successful result to the people, those people endured and suffered and died. Shorn of their power they become pitiful and absurd figures.

POEM FOR TODAY

SOLDIER TO HIS MOTHER

(Note—The accompanying tender tribute to Mother, which is particularly apropos at the present time was sent home from the Army of the Cumberland by Caley F. Harver, who died of wounds on May 13th, 1863. The writer was an uncle of Mr. Chas. Allemang in this city, who rightfully treasures the poem.)

On the field of battle, mother,
 All the night alone I lay,
 Angels watching o'er me, mother,
 'Till the breaking of the day,
 I lay thinking of you, mother,
 And the loving ones at home,
 'Till to our dear old cottage, mother,
 Boy again I seemed to come.

He to whom you taught me, mother,
 On my infant knee to pray,
 Kept my heart from fainting, mother,
 When the vision passed away,
 In the gray of morning, mother,
 Comrades bore me to the town;
 From my homelike tender fingers
 Washed the blood that trickled down.

I must soon be going, mother,
 Going to the home of rest;
 Kiss me as of old, mother,
 Press me nearer to your breast,
 Would I could repay you, mother,
 For your faithful love and care;
 God uphold and bless you, mother,
 In this bitter woe you bear.

Kiss for me the little brother,
 Kiss my sisters loved so well;
 When you sit together, mother,
 Tell them how their brother fell,
 Tell to them the story, mother,
 When I sleep beneath the sod,
 That I died to save my country,
 All from love to her and God.

Leaning on the merit, mother,
 Of the One who died for all,
 Peace is in my bosom, mother—
 Hark! I hear the angel call!
 Don't you hear them singing, mother?
 Listen to the music's swell!
 Now I leave you, loving mother—
 God be with you—fare-you-well.

CANCEL CONTRACTS

(American Press)
 Washington, Oct. 31.—Contracts for construction of a number of troop ships at a cost of $60,000,000 by the Bethlehem Union shipyards at Alameda Cal., have been canceled by the shipping board. Shipping board officials let it be known that the action was taken three weeks ago. It is said to have been found that construction of additional ships designed particularly to bring troops home from Europe after the war was unnecessary, because plans have been perfected for converting large steel freighters into temporary transports. The board also desires to have its present program completed at the end of 1919, and the yards at Alameda would not have been able to turn out the transports within that time.

Standers, Walkers, "Gets-It" for Corns

World Has Never Known Its Equal.

"What will get rid of my corn?" The answer has been made by millions—there's only one corn-remover that you can bank on, that's absolutely certain, that makes any corn on earth peel right off like a banana skin—and that's magic "Gets-It" tight shoes and dancing even when you have a corn need not disturb you if you apply a few drops of "Gets-It" on the corn or callus. You want a corn-remover, not a corn-fooler. You don't have to fool with corns—you peel them right off with your fingers by using "Gets-It." Cutting makes corns grow and bleed. Why use irritating salves or make a bundle of your toe with tape or bandages? Why putter and still have the corn? Use "Gets-It"—your corn-pain is over, the corn is a "gone" sure as the sun rises. "Gets-It" the guaranteed money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Sold by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill., and in Washington C. H. and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Brown's Drug Store and Blackmer & Tanquary.

News of Interest to Women

A natal day celebration of unusual interest in this county, especially in Paint township, was that of Mrs. Adeline Holland, who enjoyed, with children and friends, her ninety-first birthday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Martin W. Morris, on the Danville pike.

Mrs. Holland is a very remarkable woman having started on the last decade of the century in the full use of her faculties and in excellent health, a bright and interesting old lady, who is really enjoying her old age.

Five of her seven children were with her, Mrs. M. W. Morris, Mrs. Ella Morris, of London, Mrs. Robert Greenleaf, of Bloomingburg; Jephtha Holland, of Mechanicsburg, and Chauncey Holland, of Columbus. A number of friends called to congratulate Mrs. Holland and she was also the recipient of a number of remembrances.

Baroness von Luttwitz, a Cleveland woman, who is the wife of a German general, deprived of any control over her one-third interest in a Euclid avenue property. Her interest was taken over by A. Mitchell Palmer, federal custodian of alien property.

Baroness von Luttwitz was Mame Cary before her marriage. She met Baron von Luttwitz while touring in Germany. The wedding took place in Cleveland. The baron was chief of the German general staff in occupied Belgium and military governor of Brussels.

The couple, who have three children, paid many visits to Cleveland after their marriage, their last visit, however, being almost seven years ago.

Friends of the Cary family say there has been a coolness between the baroness and her relatives because of a bitterness against the allies expressed by her and her titled husband in letters to Cleveland before America entered the war. There has been no correspondence between them since.

Society women, bartenders, porters and house maids were pressed into service to wait on the tables at a luncheon given by the Red Cross in the McAlpin Hotel N. Y., when the regular waiters and cooks went on strike.

Many of the guests volunteered to wait on themselves and friends, and others even volunteered to help in the kitchen. The luncheon was voted one of the most successful of the season.

Waiters and some cooks at the Waldorf-Astoria and Claridge's went on strike at the noon hour, too, leaving the lunch-hour crowds at these hotels without service. About 1,200 men were reported to have gone out. The hotel managers propose to solve the difficulty by employing waitresses hereafter.

Mme. Schumann-Heink now has four sons in the service of Uncle Same, all of them in the navy. One is Ensign Henry Schumann-Heink who reported for duty October 31 of last year. WOMAN'S COMMITTEE OF THE COUNCIL OF NATIONAL DEFENSE

Just from the press is a leaflet issued by the woman's committee, Ohio branch, council of national defense dealing with training of women for positions which war has made it obligatory for them to fill.

Miss Bertha K. Young, University of Cincinnati, is chairman of this branch. Difficulty in finding women ready for positions caused Miss Young and her committee to get together, in a few pages, information that might benefit the young woman seeking a new avenue for her abilities.

The list starts with teaching—nothing new, but classed an imperative form of national service. Then there are nursing, household economics, technical assistantships, office and clerical work, business, agriculture and industry.

Under the industrial head are included employment managers, health officers in factories and industrial secretaries in Y. W. C. A. work. Several large cities have conducted courses for employment managers.

Social work, including among other things re-education and rehabilitation of soldiers, is another department of service in which women are needed greatly. Medical social service, meaning public health officers, sanitary inspectors of schools, markets, tenements and other buildings, is a new activity for women.

Y. W. C. A. OCCUPIES A PRE-EMINENT POSITION IN WOMAN'S WORK.

Among the many organizations doing women's work for women, the Y. W. C. A. occupies a pre-eminent position.

Previous to the great war, the work accomplished by these women was acknowledged to be invaluable, and since that time in response to the call of the War Work Council, their activities have multiplied many times.

The special needs of the girls and women affected by the war has made this extra work necessary. In the United States alone 1,500,000 women are engaged on war orders. England has over that number in factories, directly replacing men at the front. Many of them are engaged on dangerous tasks in the manufacture of high explosives.

Our military operations depend upon our industrial efficiency. As a nation we are trying to safeguard our men. What is our duty to the great industrial army of women?

The Y. W. C. A. is helping to answer this question.

RED CROSS ACTIVITIES

The Red Cross held the regular monthly meeting Wednesday evening. Reports were significant of the splendid work the local chapter is doing.

The specific report of the amount of clothing shipped to destitute Belgians and French showed 10,950 pounds of clothing including 15,000 articles of all kinds in surprisingly good condition.

The Madison Mills branch contributed 1200 pounds.

Miss Mary Robinson chairman, and Miss Lina Willis made the reports from the Home Service department, which is doing splendid work and aiding immensely in relief work needed in soldier's families. The assistance rendered this department by local people was warmly commended.

RED CROSS NEWS GRENADES

The "trouble" department, as the Home Service Bureau of the American Red Cross in Italy is called, is receiving allotment checks at the rate of 22,000 a month.

No union hours in a front line canteen! "Last night at 8," writes A. R. C. officer, "I must have fed 500 men. I got to bed at 10 p. m., was called at midnight and from then to 6 a. m. fed 800 more."

"The Red Cross has brought the only joy and happiness in the lives of the prisoners," writes a New Haven soldier now at Camp Limburg, Germany, to his mother. He receives food and smokes regularly from the Red Cross.

The Red Cross has as many trades and professions represented in its ranks as the Army. One man cited for bravery shown while distributing chocolate and cigarettes under heavy fire at the front was a New York banker turned canteen worker.

Nurses in service overseas need sweaters and warm knitted articles as well as the fighting men.

A book of instructions for nurses' knitted garments has just been issued by the American Red Cross Department of Nursing with the request that these garments be prepared as quickly as possible in order to reach our nurses in France ahead of the cold weather.

RAISING HOGS IS A HUGE SUCCESS

MRS. ARTHUR S. BURDEN

LIEUT. COLONEL C. H. SMITH

Lieutenant-Colonel C. H. Smith Quartermaster's Corps, at Camp Mills, L. I., has solved the problem of not only stopping the kitchen waste of great army camps, but making it pay a profit besides. Aided by Mrs. Arthur Scott Burden, prominent Red Cross workers Col. Smith has developed hog-raising on waste food in army kitchens into one of the most remarkable war time conservation undertakings. Camp Mills was selected as the scene of the piggery experiment. Mrs. Burden offering a tract of 110 acres about six miles from the camp. There are now about 800 hogs at piggery which consumes about 15,000 pounds of garbage a day. Government officials are interested in the experiment, and it is predicted that piggeries will be installed at all cantonments, which will probably save the Government millions of dollars on the purchase of meat for the camps.

TWO SOLDIERS OF SIMILAR NAME ARE BURIED WEDNESDAY

Pvts. Harry H. Brown and Harry L. Brown Who Died at Same Hour in Widely Separated Cams, Await Revielle From the Great Commander.

Strange indeed was the co-incident which laid to rest on the same day and in nearby neighborhoods two young soldiers of similar names and having a large number of common acquaintances.

Both were buried in military caskets, with the military note dominant and over both the taps sounded mournfully as friends turned from the graves.

FUNERAL OF HARRY HINTON BROWN.

The funeral services of Harry Hinton Brown were conducted by Rev. T. C. Kerr, of the Bloomingburg Presbyterian church, at ten o'clock Wednesday morning in the Bloomingburg cemetery, where were gathered relatives and friends in great number.

Corporal Alexander Wylie, of New York, who accompanied the body home from the camp, and Private Earl Henkleman, stood at attention at the head and foot of the casket and gave the formal military salute just before the taps sounded.

The minister made remarks charged with feeling and a male quartet, Messrs. W. W. Haines, Raymond Scott, Leland Andrews and John Jefferson sang "America" and "Jesus Savior Pilot Me."

There was a huge basket of flowers from the young soldier's company, Co. A, Machine Gun, Camp Sheridan; the K. of P. sent their triangle emblem and flowers were in profusion from friends and neighbors.

The pallbearers were Messrs Percy Kennell, Joe Allemang, Glen Wilson, Floyd Yeager, Roy and Fred Oswald.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF HARRY L. BROWN.

One of the largest funerals ever held in the Sedalia cemetery was that of Harry L. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Brown, Wednesday afternoon.

The sad scene was the duplicate of that at the Bloomingburg cemetery earlier in the day and a pall of grief hung over the assembly surrounding the casket in which lay the young soldier, who had so short a time ago reached his majority. At head and foot stood Lieutenant Robert Ray of London, who recently returned from overseas, and Private Louis K. Shoemaker of Camp Sherman, each carrying a large basket of flowers and giving the military salute at the end of the benediction.

Rev. Moffett, M. E. pastor of Sedalia, conducted the services and honored the dead with a rarely eloquent tribute to the American soldier.

Mr. Robert Shotts sang beautifully "Crossing the Bar" and "Sometime We'll Understand." The memoir was written by Mrs. W. W. Dickerson, a former Sunday school teacher of Private Brown.

Six close friends, Messrs. Paul Counts, Linson Kilgore, Harold Foody, Fred Rhill, Scott Slaughter and Harold Price, acted as pallbearers.

There was a wealth of beautiful floral tribute from the parents of sons in the service a beautiful casket spray from the young soldier's graduating class; one from the High School; a wreath from Private L. Shoemaker, an uncle; anchor from Alumni Association; pillow from grades in which sisters teach; wreath, M. E. Sunday School; basket of chrysanthemums from five pallbearers; basket from Lieut. Ray Harry Elliott and Joe Brock; spray roses, family and many other beautiful designs from relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Riley and children of this city, attended the services.

Taxation in Ohio.

The simplest remedy for the taxation ills of Ohio is CLASSIFICATION. On a separate constitutional amendment ballot, which will be handed to every voter at the election next Tuesday, will be found this proposed amendment to the Constitution:

X	YES	ARTICLE XII, Section 2
	NO

That the General Assembly shall classify property for taxation purposes

If you will vote for the amendment, as indicated above, the coming General Assembly will be compelled to classify property for purposes of taxation.

Under the present antiquated, uniform constitutional rule of taxation, every taxpayer is SUPPOSED to pay a uniform rate on all classes of property—the same rate on a sewing machine or bank deposit that he pays on his home; the same rate on his plow, horses and crops that he pays on his land.

The present hard-and-fast uniform rule keeps millions of dollars out of the public treasuries because taxpayers do not make full returns on personal property. Personal property—and particularly intangible property—is so easily secreted or taken out of the state, that Ohio taxing districts lose an immense revenue from this source.

Under classification, varying, equitable, rates on different classes will increase Ohio tax duplicates so that most communities will not face the bug-a-boo of deficiencies in public treasuries.

States that have discarded Ohio's fearful tax system and have adopted classification are more than satisfied. Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Wisconsin and others proclaim the success of classification.

In Kentucky the farmers and home owners were saved a million dollars last year through classification and all taxpayers were satisfied because the rates were reduced.

"Classification in taxation will not interfere with the Smith tax limit law."—Former Governor Judson Harmon.

You can help Ohio cure its chronic taxation ills if you will. Vote for the Classification Taxation Amendment.

A WAR TIME NECESSITY

In order to economize our limited supply of labor and continue to furnish the highest possible quality of telephone service, consistent with war time conditions, we have found it necessary to discontinue furnishing the time of day to our patrons on and after Sunday, November 3rd, 1918.

The practice of calling subscribers at certain specified hours in the morning will also be discontinued the same date.

The above services have assumed proportions sufficiently great to endanger proper attention to requests for more necessary connections. While we desire to continue to extend to our subscribers all necessary accommodations, the prevailing shortage of labor, coupled with an increased demand for general service from industrial and commercial establishments, compels the sacrifice of certain pleasant conveniences.

It has been a pleasure to us to furnish these and other courtesies to our subscribers in times past, and we invite their hearty co-operation in the readjustments necessitated by abnormal and wholly unlooked for conditions.

SABINA BOY IS KILLED BY RIFLE BALL IN TEMPLE

Word reached this city Thursday of the untimely death of Russell Coon, aged 14 years, son of F. W. Coon, of the Sabina Hardware Company, who died almost instantly with a 22 calibre rifle bullet through his temple Thursday morning.

Whether the shooting was accidental is not known, reports having stated that he had been reprimanded a short time before that.

The lad had conducted a shooting gallery in the rear of his father's store, and was somewhat careless in the handling of guns, it is claimed.

OHIO BOYS IN ITALY

(American Press)

Washington, Oct. 31.—Reports from the Italian front mention the Three Hundred and Thirty-second regiment of infantry as participating in the great drive now being conducted against the Austrians. This regiment is part of the Eighty-third division, which was drilled at Camp Sherman. It is made up of Ohio and western Pennsylvania draftees. The regiment is commanded by Colonel William Wallace. The division has been overseas several months.

Thirty-three thousand Austrian troops, hundreds of guns and innumerable machine guns have been captured by Italian and allied forces on the Italian front, said an official dispatch from Rome. The Thirty-second American infantry regiment has gone into action and the fighting now extends practically all along the course of the Piave river. The Austrians are resisting stubbornly, throwing in many new divisions, but have not been able to stop the advancing forces.

It was only when his sisters visited him at a hospital in Washington, D. C., first of this week, that relatives and friends of Sergeant Bryce Briggs, of New Holland, learned for the first time the true nature of his injuries received in the famous battle of the Champagne about the middle of July.

It was learned soon after he was wounded that Sgt. Briggs was in a hospital but the nature of his wounds he never disclosed to his relatives until this week, when his sisters Misses Jane and Lillie Briggs, accompanied by Mr. Perce May, of New Holland, visited him and found that his left leg was off just below the hip, and that he will be home sometime the coming week.

While they found the young man so badly maimed for life, they found him otherwise physical sound and as happy as ever, regretting that he had suffered the misfortune because it keeps him out of active service. "But I would a great deal rather be in this shap and know that I have done something for my country than to be sound and know that I had done nothing," he declared.

When he was removed to the hospital on the Champagne front soon after his leg was shattered by a shell, and the limb amputated below the knee. Two additional operations were necessary before the infection was stopped. The wound is fully healed at the present time, and he has been fitted with an artificial limb and expects to obtain his discharge and be home by the middle of the coming week.

Sgt. Briggs highly praises the Red Cross and other organizations at the front.

WOULD NOT EXPAND AT ALLIES' EXPENSE

(American Press)

New York, Oct. 31.—Various aspects of America's foreign trade after the war, including questions of "financing our foreign operations," "educating our representatives for foreign trade service," foreign advertising, patents and trademarks were discussed here at the opening of the two-day prepare-for-after-the-war convention arranged by the American Manufacturers' Export association. The meeting was attended by bankers, manufacturers and advertising men from all parts of the country.

In opening the convention George Edward Smith, president of the association, declared that while members of the organization believe "this year presents the supreme test of the far-sightedness of American business men," and while they want "to make the United States prosperous," nevertheless they do not seek to extend the foreign trade of the United States at the expense of those nations with which we have fought shoulder to shoulder for human happiness. "We desire to make the United States prosperous as part of a prosperous world," said Mr. Smith. "We desire to increase our exports, but, in doing so, we recognize that any permanent expansion is entirely dependent upon the commercial progress of the nations that buy our products."

Later resolutions were adopted recognizing the heroism and sacrifice of France and Belgium and pledging the organization's support to "the complete restoration of Belgium, the rebuilding of her industries and the unconditional defeat of German arms."

TO SELL A BUILDING FOR THE RED CROSS

Mayor Dahl will sell at auction for the Red Cross on November 9th at 4 p. m. in front of the Peoples & Drovers Bank the attractive little office which has been occupied for several months past by B. Dawber, superintendent of construction for Hoggson Brothers, who are remodeling and equipping the bank.

When this temporary office was constructed on the overhead bridge, Mr. Dawber, was beset with requests to buy it. He wrote to his company for permission to auction it off for the Red Cross. This permission was cheerfully given.

The scaffolding in front of the bank building has been removed and the attractiveness of the new building can be seen for the first time. The work of completing the interior is now under way.
